Unit History

The 1st Battalion, 79th Field Artillery traces its lineage back the 13th Cavalry Regiment, following its transfer from the Philippines to Fort Riley, Kansas, in 1911. The 13th Cavalry Regiment fought under General John J. "Blackjack" Pershing in Mexico during the 1916 Punitive Expedition against the infamous bandit Poncho Villa. The 1st Battalion, 79th Field Artillery was created on 1 July 1916, when it was constituted in the regular army as Troops A and B of the 21st Cavalry Regiment, and then re-organized on 1 June 1917, back at Fort Riley, Kansas, as the 79th Field Artillery.

The battalion was designated as Battery A, 79th Field Artillery on 1 November 1917—shortly after the United States entered the First World War. The battalion was then assigned to the 7th Division on 6 December 1917, providing fire support to the 7th Division throughout the bitter fighting in the mud of the 1918 Alsace-Lorraine Campaign. The 79th Field Artillery remained with the 7th Division until inactivation following World War I where it served with distinction.

After a series of reactivations and reassignments to the 7th Division, the battalion headquarters was activated on 1 June 1940, at Camp Bragg, North Carolina. The battalion was re-designated as the 697th Field Artillery on 23 February 1943. The battalion's batteries entered the European Theater of Operations during World War II at both Anzio and Normandy. Batteries of the 697th Field Artillery provided fire support to General George S. Patton's Third Army and LTG Mark Clark's Fifth Army. The battalion's 240mm howitzers lumbered across France from the Norman hedgerows to the Siegfried Line and up the Italian Peninsula from the Anzio beachhead to the Po River Valley, providing continuous fire support to the advancing armor and infantry columns of the United State Third and Fifth Armies. The battalion found itself on familiar, damp ground during the Lorraine Campaign and fought with great distinction during the Ardennes-Alsace Counter-offensive to stem the Nazi advance in the Battle of the Bulge. In the Italian Campaign, the battalion massed overwhelming artillery fires against the defenders of Monte Casino to ensure their defeat. The battalion culminated its service in the European Theater of Operations with Third Army's occupation of Southern Germany and Fifth Army's liberation of Northern Italy, bringing about the greatest victory in US military history.

The battalion was back in combat as the 555th Field Artillery in support of the 5th Infantry Regiment during the Korean War. While in action during America's "Forgotten War," the battalion stemmed the tide of suicidal mass charges by Chinese infantry in the frozen and mountainous terrain of the Korean Peninsula, saving the 5th Infantry Regiment from destruction. Following action in Korea, the battalion underwent another series of re-designations, activations and in-activations, finally being activated and re-designated as the 1st Howitzer Battalion, 79th Artillery, on 1 July 1960, and returning to the Republic of Korea a second time to serve in the 7th Infantry Division.

On 1 July 1963, the battalion was re-designated as the 1st Battalion, 79th Artillery and remained active for eight more years until 2 April 1971, when it was inactivated at Fort Lewis, Washington. The battalion was again re-designated, this time as the 1st Battalion, 79th Field artillery, and activated on 21 October 1975, at Fort Ord, California, where it served for another eight-year period in the 7th Infantry Division once again.

Following its last inactivation and relief from assignment to the 7th Infantry Division on 1 October 1983, the headquarters of the 1st Battalion, 79th Field Artillery was transferred on 16 August 1995 to the United States Army Training and Doctrine Command, and activated at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, where it has been assigned to the 434th Field Artillery Brigade. The 1st Battalion, 79th Field Artillery continues its proud tradition of service to our country and extensive combat record by transforming volunteers into the Army's newest soldiers, competent and confident in their warrior tasks and battle drills, and prepared to see our great nation to victory.

Welcome Letter

Future Teammate,

Welcome to Fort Sill, the 434th Field Artillery Brigade, and the 1st Battalion (BN), 79th Field Artillery (FA) Regiment! You are joining a great unit during a critical time as we prepare our Army's newest Soldiers for the challenges that face us around the world today. We look forward to your integration and contributions in training our Army's next Soldiers.

The Initial Entry Training (IET) environment is unique. The 434th FA BDE is the largest "Field Artillery" brigade in our Army, consisting of five BNs, four of which (including ours) are purely Basic Combat Training (BCT) responsible for transforming citizens into lethal, motivated, and discipline Soldiers. The fifth BN is our reception BN which provides which enables these citizens to be professionally welcomed into our Army.

Our BN consists of five batteries and the brigade headquarters and headquarters service (HHS) battery. As you can imagine, being one of five batteries conducting and supporting IET makes for a very busy but rewarding environment as does joining the HHS team which keeps everything running. You will find that you will have an opportunity to enhance your leadership skills while training or enabling the training our Army's newest Soldiers and its future generation of leaders.

You will be hearing from your sponsor very soon. Pick their brains as much as you can while you are preparing to transition to Fort Sill. We are operating in a fairly uncertain time so if you have unanswered questions, please ask your sponsor or reach out to our Battalion Sponsorship Coordinator (SFC Fitzgerald: (580) 442-1343 or alfreda.fitzgerald.mil@mail.mil). No question should go unanswered so please let us advise you early and often. In addition, we will be sending some flyers that you might find useful for your upcoming move.

To be on the safe side, you are asked to go directly to the Fort Sill Urgent Care Clinic upon your arrival to obtain a decision on your requirement to self-quarantine upon your arrival. Please ensure you have the means and support to go immediately into this status if directed.

While we know this can be painful, it is an important step to keep COVID out of this strategically important team.

CSM Stewart and I look forward to meeting you and having you a part of this GREAT unit!

Sincerely,

JUSTIN M. STEWART

CSM, USA
